Friday 19 March, 1.15 pm – 5.00pm

Wolfson Room, Institute of Historical Research,
University of London

Speakers:

Barbara Taylor, Raphael Samuel History Centre
Pat Thane, Centre for Contemporary British History, IHR
Anna Gust, University College London
Jane Hamlett, Royal Holloway, University of London
Michelle Johansen, Havering Museum
Mel Porter, History & Policy

This workshop is aimed at advanced PhD students and early career researchers. It explores some of the ways in which historians can collaborate with bodies outside universities and engage with a wider public.

Topics will include: designing major projects and applying for ESRC funding; collaborating with museums; and making an impact on communities and policy-making.

Our speakers' experiences include: running ESRC projects on unmarried motherhood and on 19th-century institutional interiors; working with museums on events and exhibitions; co-ordinating the engagement of historians with policy-makers, communities and the media; and working with schools and youth groups.
